TALIM Virtual Tour

There is a visually stunning and very detailed “virtual museum” tour on TALIM’s website:

<https://legation.org/virtual-tour/>

If you have shared some of our history articles with your students, they should be able to spot related documents, pictures, and more in this virtual tour.

Your students may also see such newer additions as the photo of President Barack Obama with King Mohammed VI of Morocco. What else can they find that they recognize?

Overview of TALIM Programs and Legation History

A “tour d’horizon” of the Legation’s history and current programs, narrated by former Resident Director John Davison: <https://legation.org/video-repurposing-a-historic-landmark-the-tangier-american-legation-museum-gives-back/>

TALIM YouTube Page:

And don’t forget to check this out, for videos of concerts and other events at the Legation. <https://www.youtube.com/@LegationOrg>

Two of our favorite videos are these performances by Moroccan singers and musicians Maryem Essalhi and Qaayel — from the special Chi Sessions series (filmed without in-person audiences during the pandemic).

TALIM Podcast Page:

Podcasts of scholarly talks and expert presentations on a variety of topics related to Morocco and the U.S.: <https://legation.org/categories/podcasts/>

One especially fascinating podcast is this one about the Women Zajal Poets of medieval Andalusia and Morocco: <https://legation.org/podcast-queens-of-words-moroccan-women-zajal-poets-by-catherine-cartier/>

Aramco World Magazine

In this terrific article from 2015, there is a short embedded video that focuses on TALIM's women's literacy program, but also provides a good historical overview. <https://www.aramcoworld.com/Articles/September-2015/A-Legation-Turns-to-Education>
